

RRS Class Charters

At Lydgate Junior School, every member of our school strives to respect our own and one another's rights. To help everyone understand and respect the rights, each class has created a class charter. The class charters display 6 Articles from the UNCRC, chosen by the children. The children chose which articles they felt were most relevant (not important as all articles are equally important!) to their classroom environment and discussed ways in which they could respect the rights.

Each charter is completely unique as they have been designed around a chosen theme and created by all members of each class. Every member of each class (adults and children) has signed their charter to show that they will try their best to respect everyone's rights.

Take a look at all of our creative class charters below.

- Can you find your classes class charter?
- Tell someone in your household about the theme of your charter.
- Can you explain the articles your class chose and how you can respect each right?
